MUTINOUS ATTITUDE PREVAILS IN PEN

GERMAN SHIP
IN COLLISION
WITH TANKER

From: Queen of Seas and
Grenadier Crash in Heavy
Channel Fog.

LONDON, April 24—The North German Lloyd liner Bremen, until a few weeks ago the speed queen of the Atlantic was reported in collision today with the British tanker Grenadier off Dungeness in the English Channel.

The tanker, according to first reports, suffered considerable damage but there apparently was no loss of life.

The Bremen was slowly feeling her way through a heavy fog in the channel toward Southampton at the time of the collision. The huge 49,000 ton liner, whose speed record was wrested from her by the North German Lloyd liner Europa a few weeks ago, was enroute to the British port from Bremen.

At 10:30 a. m. the following wireless message from the Bremen was picked up here:

"Bremen searching for British tanker, name unknown, which may need assistance."

The message gave no details of the collision.

A short while after, the British Grenadier, a 6,500 ton oil tanker wirelessed:

"In collision off Dungeness. Number four and five tanks leaking crude oil."

Immediately afterward, the Grenadier's captain wirelessed the "upper" of the Bremen asking whether his vessel required assistance.

It appeared that immediately after the collision both vessels circled in search of one another, but that the heavy fog hid them from view.

A report from Dungeness said the harbor master of that port had dispatched a tug to the tanker's aid. It is not believed, however, in view of the wireless messages received, that either craft suffered serious damage.

The North German Lloyd offices stated that the Bremen had failed to arrive at Southampton on time, but said the vessel had been badly delayed by fog. Officials of the line said they had no confirmation of the reported collision.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 24—The British Grenadier, a tanker of 6,600 tons gross, wirelessed her home offices here today that she had been in collision with the North German Lloyd liner Bremen and sustained considerable damage.

"Steamer Bremen collided with 9:26 a. m. G. M. T. (4:26 a. m. eastern standard time. Badly damaging number four and five tanks and the bridge on the port side," the message read.

"We are proceeding to deal to land one man requiring medical attention."

In spite of this wireless, North German Lloyd agents maintained they had no information concerning the collision. They said the Bremen's delay was due solely to fog, and that she would arrive momentarily to take on passengers for New York.

LEGION PLANS
BIG MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Committees Named To Obtain
Band, Speaker and Arrange Program.

First arrangements for a grand Decoration Day celebration to be held here under the auspices of the American Legion and the Daughters of the American Revolution were made at a meeting held in the Memorial Hall.

Committees were named which will proceed with the arrangements and which will make their final report on the definite program at a meeting on May 16.

The Legion, with its brand-new drum corps decked out in nifty uniforms and with fine shining instruments, promises a celebration the like of which has never been seen here before. If practice means anything the Legions boys will furnish plenty of life and drum action on this holiday when they strut onto the city's thoroughfares for their first appearance.

The memorial services will be held at the Lutheran church on Sunday, May 25. The secretary of the Legion has been ordered to obtain a speaker for the celebration.

The Daughters of the American Revolution will be in charge of the program to be given at the Memorial Hall on the morning of Memorial Day. Miss Laura Mader is chairman of the committee which will arrange the program.

Not only will the music of the drum corps fill the air with martial notes, but Mack Parrett, Jr., has been named chairman of a committee to obtain the services of an out-of-town band to aid in the festivities.

The Legion is planning for a gala day and the least Circleville's citizen can do is to get behind them and make Decoration Day a real holiday this year.

Deputy Warden Terms Situation As "Very Dangerous"
—Call General Strike

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—Displaying an attitude bordering on mutiny and brazenly refusing to testify in the fire investigation, prisoners held Ohio State Penitentiary in a state of anxiety and tenseness here today.

Several attempts were made to bring convicts before the board of inquiry but all were to no avail.

Assistant Attorney General Earl C. Shively, who is assisting in conducting the investigation into the disastrous fire, which caused the deaths of 318 Monday night, characterized the attitude of the prisoners as "bordering on mutiny."

"They're simply mad," Shively said, "They refuse to come out and testify."

Deputy Warden J. C. Woodward described the situation inside the prison as "very dangerous."

"We can't tell what or when anything will break out, but we are taking all precautions," Woodward said.

Blanket orders have been issued that no one shall go inside of the prison courtyard, Woodward said.

The prisoners declared a general strike this morning when attempts were made to herd them into the shops for work. They obeyed the guards and returned to work commands.

TWO GUARDS SUSPENDED BY WARDEN P. E. THOMAS
Two guards, one of whom was charged with being absent from his post during the conflagration at Ohio Penitentiary Monday night, were suspended today by Warden P. E. Thomas.

MYSTERY OF REVOLVER SHOTS IS CLEARED UP
The mystery surrounding the reported firing of shots during the conflagration at Ohio State Penitentiary Monday evening was cleared up today when Sergeant of the Guards Lewis Hostetter told Warden P. E. Thomas that the shots had been fired to warn outside guards of the blaze.

Guard Guy R. Porter, who was locked inside the blazing cell range, fired two shots, Hostetter reported to the warden. "Red" Miller, a trusty, who was outside of the cell block heard the shots and turned in the alarm, the sergeant said.

GERMAN SHIP IN COLLISION WITH TANKER

Former Queen of Seas and
Grenadier Crash in Heavy
Channel Fog.

LONDON, April 24—The North German Lloyd liner Bremen, until a few weeks ago the speed queen of the Atlantic was reported in collision today with the British tanker Grenadier off Dungeness in the English Channel.

The tanker, according to first reports, suffered considerable damage but there apparently was no loss of life.

The Bremen was slowly feeling her way through a heavy fog in the channel toward Southampton at the time of the collision. The huge 49,000 ton liner, whose speed record was wrested from her by the North German Lloyd liner Europa a few weeks ago, was enroute to the British port from Bremen.

At 10:30 a. m. the following wireless message from the Bremen was picked up here:

"Bremen searching for British tanker, name unknown, which may need assistance."

The message gave no details of the collision.

A short while after, the British Grenadier, a 6,000 ton oil tanker wirelessed:

"In collision off Dungeness. Number four and five tanks leaking crude oil."

Immediately afterward, the Grenadier's captain wirelessed the shipper of the Bremen asking whether his vessel required assistance.

It appeared that immediately after the collision both vessels circled in search of one another, but that the heavy fog hid them from view.

A report from Dungeness said the harbor master of that port had dispatched a tug to the tanker's aid. It is not believed, however, in view of the wireless messages received, that either craft suffered serious damage.

The North German Lloyd offices stated that the Bremen had failed to arrive at Southampton on time, but said the vessel had been badly delayed by fog. Officials of the line said they had no confirmation of the reported collision.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 24—The British Grenadier, a tanker of 6,000 tons gross, wirelessed her home offices here today that she had been in collision with the North German Lloyd liner Bremen and sustained considerable damage.

"Steamer Bremen collided with me 9:26 a. m. G. M. T. (4:26 a. m. eastern standard time. Badly damaging number four and five tanks and the bridge on the port side," the message read.

"We are proceeding to deal to land one man requiring medical attention."

In spite of this wireless, North German Lloyd agents maintained they had no information concerning the collision. They said the Bremen's delay was due solely to fog, and that she would arrive momentarily to take on passengers for New York.

Band, Speaker and Arrange Program.

First arrangements for a grand Decoration Day celebration to be held here under the auspices of the American Legion and the Daughters of the American Revolution were made at a meeting held in the Memorial Hall.

Committees were named which will proceed with the arrangements and which will make their final report on the definite program at a meeting on May 16.

The Legion, with its brand-new drum corps decked out in fifty uniforms and with fine shining instruments, promises a celebration the like of which has never been seen here before. If practice means anything the Legion boys will furnish plenty of life and drum action on this holiday when they strut onto the city's thoroughfares for their first appearance.

The memorial services will be held at the Lutheran church on Sunday, May 25. The secretary of the Legion has been ordered to obtain a speaker for the celebration.

The Daughters of the American Revolution will be in charge of the program to be given at the Memorial Hall on the morning of Memorial Day. Miss Laura Mader is chairman of the committee which will arrange the program.

Not only will the music of the drum corps fill the air with martial notes, but Mack Parrett, Jr., has been named chairman of a committee to obtain the services of an out-of-town band to aid in the festivities.

The Legion is planning for a gala day and the least Circleville's citizen can do is to get behind them and make Decoration Day a real holiday this year.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity, that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed, get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Hamilton & Ryan or any live druggist anywhere in America, with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back. Adv.

A LARGE part of the property investment of any farm is found in the barn, implement sheds, silos and other outbuildings. They have been erected at a large cost; they should be protected at a small cost.

LOWE BROTHERS STANDARD BARN PAINT will do the protecting and at small cost, too.

Results are what interest people and that is why Standard Barn Paint is chosen repeatedly by those who have used it years before. It hides well, covers a large area per gallon, which calls for fewer gallons and less total cost.

In addition, it lasts much longer than paints ordinarily sold for this purpose, so that the investment per year is very small. Standard Barn will protect your building for years to come.

PLAN SEVEN DAY AIR MAIL SERVICE TO SOUTH AMERICA

By HOMER H. METZ
NEW YORK, April 24. "The present year will see the aircraft industry make its greatest advances."

This statement was made exclusively to International News Service here today by none other than Colonel Charles Lindbergh, shortly after it became known that the famous ocean flyer is to inaugurate the Pan American Airways System's new seven day Air mail service to South America by flying 1200 miles across the Caribbean Sea on Saturday.

Besides opening a mail service that will bring New York, Chicago, Kansas City, Washington, Atlanta and other American cities within easy reach of the Metropolis of South America, Lindbergh's contemplated flight will mark the first time that the Caribbean Sea has been crossed in a direct line by a transport plane. The flight will be made in a standard Pan American Amphibian plane, which besides its famous pilot will carry a radio operator, who will report the progress of the water "hop."

"Flying has now definitely passed the experimental stage," Lindbergh declared. "Only a few pioneering flights yet remain to be made and they will be made this year."

When asked whether his record breaking one-stop flight across the country was a pioneering flight, Lindbergh replied with an emphatic yes.

"My flight from Los Angeles to New York proved conclusively that much is to be gained by cross-country flyers who fly at high altitudes. Flying at heights between 10,000 and 15,000 feet the pilot finds that greater speed is possible and better weather conditions are encountered."

Lindbergh's transcontinental flight was made at an approximate height of 15,000 feet.

"I was really surprised myself at the speed we were able to make at 15,000 feet," Lindbergh said. "I believe we averaged nearly 250 miles an hour all the way from Los Angeles. At high altitudes the air is much rarer than it is nearer the earth and as a consequence an airplane is faced with a minimum of resistance. Moreover, wind conditions are always better higher up. Storms and other bad weather areas seldom extend higher than 10,000 feet and the pilot who flies high has a distinct advantage over the man who stays nearer the earth."

The Lone Eagle voiced a vehement denial of the claim that the aviation industry will find its progress retarded during the next few

Another Screen Favorite on Old Gold Hour

CATHERINE DALE OWEN, beautiful southern actress who starred alongside Lawrence Tibbett in his famous color-talkie, "The Rogue Song," will have a few words to say to radio fans when she appears in the Old Gold Hour with Paul Whiteman and his band, Tuesday night, April 29, over the nationwide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Miss Owen is considered one of the most promising actresses both on the legitimate stage and on the screen. She has already made a name for herself on Broadway and her latest picture, "Strictly Unconventional," is expected to put her among the foremost of screen favorites.

As musical background for Miss Owen's appearance in the Old Gold Hour, Whiteman has selected several catchy songs. One, entirely new, is "Swing Me in a Hammock of Moonbeams," and another is "When the Little Red Roses Get the Blues for You," one of the hits in the Warner production, "Hold Everything." In addition he is to render the classical "Liebestraum" in fox trot tempo and is to offset this with Cadman's celebrated composition, "Land of the Sky Blue Water."

This program marks the beginning of the daylight saving time period in the east and some mid-western cities and therefore is to be put on the air at 9 o'clock Eastern Daylight Saving Time, or 8 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

years because of over-production by manufacturers.

"The answer to that claim," he said, "is that there are more people flying now than ever before and that there are scarcely enough planes to go around."

In commenting upon what is in store for aviation during the present year, Lindbergh predicted that the winter of 1930 would see air lines, carrying both mail and passengers in virtually every section of the country and the civilized world.

"It is no longer necessary for flying men to make the public air-minded," he said, "They are air-minded. All that is necessary now is to convince the public that traveling by air is vastly superior to other means of travel. That is the job the flying man is confronted with in 1930. He will be able to handle it easily."

Lindbergh's inauguration of the Pan American Airways mail route will cut down the steamer schedule between this country and South America by thirteen days.

According to J. T. Trippe, president of Pan American Airways, who made the announcement on the flight, it will now be possible to mail a letter in any of the principal American cities on Friday and have it received in any of the principal cities of South America in the same day the following week.

"Inauguration of this world's fastest scheduled air mail service is a mile stone in the progressive development and expansion of the United States air mail services to Central and South America," Trippe declared.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Hamilton & Ryan or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.—Adv.

PLAN SEVEN DAY AIR MAIL SERVICE TO SOUTH AMERICA

By HOMER H. METZ
NEW YORK, April 24. "The present year will see the aircraft industry make its greatest advances."

This statement was made exclusively to International News Service here today by none other than Colonel Charles Lindbergh, shortly after it became known that the famous ocean flyer is to inaugurate the Pan American Airways System's new seven day air mail service to South America by flying 1200 miles across the Caribbean Sea on Saturday.

Besides opening a mail service that will bring New York, Chicago, Kansas City, Washington, Atlanta and other American cities within easy reach of the Metropolis of South America, Lindbergh's contemplated flight will mark the first time that the Caribbean Sea has been crossed in a direct line by a transport plane. The flight will be made in a standard Pan American Amphibian plane, which besides its famous pilot will carry a radio operator, who will report the progress of the water "hop."

"Flying has now definitely passed the experimental stage," Lindbergh declared. "Only a few pioneering flights yet remain to be made and they will be made this year."

When asked whether his record breaking one-stop flight across the country was a pioneering flight, Lindbergh replied with an emphatic yes.

"My flight from Los Angeles to New York proved conclusively that much is to be gained by cross-country flyers who fly at high altitudes. Flying at heights between 10,000 and 15,000 feet the pilot finds that greater speed is possible and better weather conditions are encountered."

Lindbergh's transcontinental flight was made at an approximate height of 15,000 feet.

"I was really surprised myself at the speed we were able to make at 15,000 feet," Lindbergh said. "I believe we averaged nearly 250 miles an hour all the way from Los Angeles. At high altitudes the air is much rarer than it is nearer the earth and as a consequence an airplane is faced with a minimum of resistance. Moreover, wind conditions are always better higher up. Storms and other bad weather areas seldom extend higher than 10,000 feet and the pilot who flies high has a distinct advantage over the man who stays nearer the earth."

The Lone Eagle voiced a vehement denial of the claim that the aviation industry will find its progress retarded during the next few

Pernicious Uric Acid Cause of Rheumatic Agony

Powerful Yet Safe Medicine Drives It From Joints—Quick.

Just use common sense and you won't suffer long from stubborn rheumatic pains and swellings.

You've got a merciless disease to deal with and mild measures won't do—only a powerful medicine will dissolve the uric acid deposits in joints and muscles and drive them from the system through kidneys and bowels.

That's why you should get a large bottle of Allenru and start at once to eliminate from your body the cause of obnoxious rheumatic inflammation and torture.

Allenru acts with speed—relief comes quickly with this safe medicine and it won't be long before inflammation subsides and the painful twinges cease—your physical condition will be normal once more and you do a good day's work and enjoy it.

Hamilton & Ryan sell a lot of Allenru—so do druggists everywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied or money back.—Adv.

Another Screen Favorite on Old Gold Hour

CATHERINE DALE OWEN, a beautiful southern actress who starred alongside Lawrence Tibbett in his famous color-talkie, "The Rogue Song," will have a few words to say to radio fans when she appears in the Old Gold Hour with Paul Whiteman and his band, Tuesday night, April 29, over the nationwide network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Miss Owen is considered one of the most promising actresses both on the legitimate stage and on the screen. She has already made a name for herself on Broadway and her latest picture, "Strictly Unconventional," is expected to put her among the foremost of screen favorites.

As musical background for Miss Owen's appearance in the Old Gold Hour, Whiteman has selected several catchy songs. One, entirely new, is "Swing Me in a Hammock of Moonbeams," and another is "When the Little Red Roses Get the Blues for You," one of the hits in the Warner production, "Hold Everything." In addition he is to render the classical "Liebestraum" in fox trot tempo and is to offset this with Cadman's celebrated composition, "Land of the Sky Blue Water."

Catherine Dale Owen

years because of over-production by manufacturers.

"The answer to that claim," he said, "is that there are more people flying now than ever before and that there are scarcely enough planes to go around."

In commenting upon what is in store for aviation during the present year, Lindbergh predicted that the winter of 1930 would see air lines, carrying both mail and passengers in virtually every section of the country and the civilized world.

"It is no longer necessary for flying men to make the public air-minded, he said, 'They are air-minded. All that is necessary now is to convince the public that traveling by air is vastly superior to other means of travel. That is the job the flying man is confronted with in 1930. He will be able to handle it easily.'

Lindbergh's inauguration of the Pan American Airways mail route will cut down the steamer schedule between this country and South America by thirteen days.

According to J. T. Trippe, president of Pan American Airways, who made the announcement of the flight, it will now be possible to mail a letter in any of the principal American cities on Friday and have it received in any of the principal cities of South America in the same day the following week.

"Inauguration of this world's fastest scheduled air mail service is a mile stone in the progressive development and expansion of the United States air mail services to Central and South America," Trippe declared.

2,500 ATHLETES TO COMPETE IN THIS YEAR'S OHIO RELAYS

Attention Will Focus on Ohio State's Shuttle Hurdle Relay Team Which Holds World's Record and On Simpson's Ability.

By JOSEPH K. RUKENBROD
International News Service Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O.—The Ohio Relays, which is fast becoming one of the outstanding track carnivals in the country, already promises an array of 2,500 individual contestants for the annual affair which will be held at Ohio State University here May 2 and 3.

Officials of the country-wide meet promise this year's edition of the Buckeye carnival will be the greatest that has yet been presented, and 1,800 colleges and high schools have been invited to enter teams and individuals in the events.

The Ohio Relays of 1930 will bat in the cleanup position. The Illinois Relays at Urbana March 15 marked the opening of the relay season. The Texas and Southern Methodist games were held late in March and the Kansas Relays were run off two weeks ago. The big Drake and Penn. affairs are to be held this year just a week before the Ohio meet.

Stars of the track and field from all parts of the country will compete in the Ohio Relays, and many records are expected to fall in the two-day battle.

Great attention will be focused on Ohio State's crack shuttle hurdle relay team, which twice broke the world's record last season. Ohio State broke the record at the Illinois meet, finishing just a step ahead of the "Dini" outfit. Illinois took the honors in a race with the Buckeyes at the Penn Relays and Ohio State came back in its own affair a week later to shatter the record by several seconds.

Both the Illinois and Ohio State shuttle teams are depending on sophomores as replacements this year. Dick Rockaway, national collegiate high hurdle champion is the only member who is available this year. The other three hurdlers, Pierce, Crooks and Petersilge, have been lost, the first two by graduation and the latter by ineptitude. The Indians have Lee Sentman and Bob Rodgers, both veterans, on this year's team.

Illinois and Ohio State will also renew rivalry in the sprint relays. The Illinois downed the Ohio 440 quartet last year at Columbus, but were forced into a new national Collegiate record.

The same quartet of Buckeyes came back later in the day to win the 880-yard event. Illinois will be obliged to race this year without the services of Judd Timm, 1929 anchor man, while Ohio State must replace Howard Kriss.

George Simpson, the "Columbus Comet" has been training extensively and is expected to run true to form. In a dual meet between Ohio State and Ohio Wesleyan, Simpson completed the century in 9.6 seconds, two-tenths of a second slower than the world mark which he now holds. He also ran the 220 in 21.6 seconds. Officials were pleased with the performance of the "fastest human" in that meet and they expect even greater things from him before he closes his remarkable college career in June. The track was slow and heavy at the Wesleyan affair and with a dry, fast path, officials believe he may even surpass his present record of the universe.

ASHVILLE "9" FACES OBETZ

County Lads Endeavor To Take Fall From Team Tied For First Place.

Ashville's entrant in the Suburban league will trek to Obetz Junction Sunday to meet the team there which at the present time is in a tie for first place. The Ashville lads, with Art Beatty, of Darbyville, in the leading role, handed the cleaner to Valley Crossing last Sunday in Ashville's first home game, and fans believe they have power enough to take a fall out of the Obetz nine.

Other games next Sunday are, Shadeville at home against Westwood A. C.; Groveport at New Albany; Lithopolis at Valley Crossing.

Speaking of the dry issue, it's evident that the country doesn't want to dry up verbally, anyway.

BAD WEATHER CUTS MAJOR LOOP CONTESTS TO THREE

By COPELAND C. BURG.

NEW YORK, April 24.—And the next day it rained.

Except it snowed in Pittsburgh. Anyway, the Yankees did not lose again and the New York Giants are still out there today with that one thousand per centage.

All of which is prefatory to saying only three major league ball games were played yesterday, because of rain, snow, cold and danger of pneumonia.

Charley Grims' single to mid-garden in the last of the ninth, scoring Hack Wilson, brought the Chicago Cubs a 6 to 5 victory over the Cardinals. Charley Root was tapped for 10 hits, while the Cubs basked 12 off Bell, Grabowski and Haid.

In the other game in the National League the Brooklyn Robins touched rock bottom as they fell before the Phillies in what they used to call a slug fest. The score was 16 to 15. It was an augmented production with a big ensemble of six fingers for the flock, four for Philadelphia, home runs by Klein and Presco Thompson and plenty of anything else one might imagine. The Phillies finally won when Thompson pounded out a torrid grounder to Jake Flowers who juggled it just long enough to permit Jimmy Spotts, who got on by forcing Thevenow, to saunter home with the tally that counted most.

The lone contest in the American League saw Coffman, Brown hurler, allowing the Detroit Tigers only six hits as St. Louis won, 5 to 1. The Browns garnered only seven hits but they played smart ball, including a double steal.

In Pittsburgh it was a case of bringing along your own rain for a snowstorm descended, as Forbes Field in the third inning, just as the Pirates got off to a nice 1 to 0 lead over the Cincinnati Reds.

They all play today—if it does not rain.

WALSH SAYS YANKEE TEAM PLAYING DIFFERENT WAYS

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 24.—One of the best handicappers in the country, Jack Doyle, was "laying" 8 to 5 against the New York Yankees as an American League pennant possibility just before the opening day. The Yankees were world's champions, once removed; they carried a $300,000 salary list, which included the only $80,000-man baseball ever will know and altogether they were presumed to have the inevitable fighting chance, but Doyle was highly unimpressed. "They ought to be 10 to 1," said he, confidently, "they couldn't win even with a clerical error."

Today, he might stand on the door step and harangue the populace without getting more than a tentative nibble at 10 to 1 from the fish who annually try to beat the old unbeatable game, seeing only the fat piece of bait and forgetting the thin, wily hook.

STILL HUNT VICTORY

As the only club among the sixteen major leaguers still chasing its maiden victory, the Yankees haven't looked so badly to date.

They have looked downright terrible. Possibly this has nothing to do with the moral or management, both of which may be of the highest. Possibly it is just one of those things that is hard to explain, like a black eye.

In any case, plenty of explanations may be entered but there is only one answer: The Yankees so far have been a group of nine men playing a ball game nine different ways. The spirit that once made them a living, breathing, vital organization is simply no more. The will to win is there but the flesh can't respond. There is nothing new about this. It will happen to champion ball clubs as long as the human element endures.

So far, no one has been uncharitable enough to chide Mr. Shawkey, the new manager, for this series of early failures, the disposition, in fact, is to bear with the man, for he is in a spot that is nobody's half-holiday and it is only the fair thing to see that he is not molested prematurely with his job of work. Besides, I find there is no sense in kicking a man until one makes absolutely certain that he is down. Mr. Shawkey doubtless will be well chid or chidden at such time, if at all, that he leaves no doubt of the fact that he is about to fall beyond all hope that later he will arise to confound his critics.

RUTH IS DOWN

In similar circumstances, Mr. Ruth also will be the subject of a scathing indictment, it being recognized as man's inalienable right to scold anybody who works for $80,000 a year. They have been patient with Mr. Ruth, too, even though he is hitting absolutely no home runs day in and day out. For one thing, they know that fate has denied him a home run at least twice to date. For another, they realize that Mr. Ruth can make an awful chump out of the man who tries to disapprove of him right out loud in public.

Mr. Ruth is liable to start hitting them without further notice, at which time the Yankees will start winning a few ball games, but not of them to win the pennant. The turnip will shed its blood before that happens.

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper form; women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that liche, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

THE NERVIEST RACKET

Chicago seems to resent what one of its newspapers calls "the attempt of Scarface Al Capone, jailbird and brothel-keeper, to seize control of the local government in the city hall by setting up his own political machine."

Scarface has conceived the ingenious idea of establishing a "bureau of plumbing" in the city hall, controlling all local plumbing jobs and purchases, with his gang running it and collecting the revenue. He also reached out for the post of superintendent of streets. In either field there would be a large graft and political influence.

For the present, however, his plans seem to be going agley. The ordinance required is halted. The gang at the city hall in a glare of publicity, loses its nerve.

That is well for Chicago, and perhaps well for some of the other cities inclined to emulate Chicago's greatness. Racketeering has gone far enough. It is time for racketeering.

HAPPY MEDIUM

One of the most gratifying things observed about the public reaction to the London naval agreement is that the "big navy" advocates are indignant at the length to which it carries the limitation while the extreme pacifists are depressed by the smallness of the reduction secured.

That makes the average onlooker feel as if perhaps something really worth while had been accomplished. When extremists of quite opposite viewpoints are both dissatisfied, there is likelihood that a reasonable middle course is being steered or a really workable compromise has been established.

PEACE GARDEN

Interest grows in the "International Peace Garden" proposed by the National Association of Gardeners and sponsored by committees of distinguished citizens of the United States and Canada.

Gardens are to be approved on general principles. It is especially easy nowadays to win approval for public gardens, monumental in themselves and ministering to the enjoyment of all. There are special reasons for commending the garden now proposed, to commemorate the long reign of peace between two of the best neighbors in the world and to represent the fine tastes they have in common.

What is more peaceful and peace-promoting than a garden?

Such a park, to be established at some appropriate, accessible place along the international boundary, will cost little compared with resources available.

The plan is to have American and Canadian school children make their small contributions, in order to spread the support and interest as much as possible. It should be a pleasure and a privilege for adult citizens, if called upon, to complete the requisite amount.

"SHEIK'S WIFE"

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

WHAT HAS HAPPENED THUS FAR.

YOUNG and unsophisticated Eve Reade meets Kenneth Wilmer, noted artist. They fall in love. Eve's friend, Mary, tries to convince her the match is unsuitable. Ken introduces Eve to his unconventional artist colony set. When Ken leaves a party with Fifi Devoe, Eve is hurt. Nory O'Reilly, author friend of Ken's also interested in Eve, drives her to Fifi's. Ken is there and rushes to Eve, telling of his longing for her. After painting Eve the next day, Ken gives a party. Eve is thrilled when Ken and Nory toast her. The first misunderstanding comes when Eve tells of meeting Nory and his tea party. Ken is jealous. They make up and all goes well, until the next get-together, when in a discussion on marriage, Ken calls it "shackles." Eve is disappointed, and that night tells him it is "good-bye."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XV.

EVE KEPT to herself for a week, seeing no one but Mary and Jimmy, spending most of the time just lying on her bed and staring at nothing.

She did not suffer with the ache of loneliness as she had the night Ken left her at the Hollys. She did not, as a matter of fact, feel anything but a numbness which seemed to center where her heart used to be and spread from there through her whole being till nothing was left of her but a shadow of the girl who had lived and laughed and loved.

Sometimes she asked herself what she had expected of Ken and always had to admit she did not know. He had said he loved her, that he wanted her never to leave him. He had meant this—oh, it couldn't have been just one of his moods? He had said it so many times, so sincerely.

This meant marriage to her. All right for Jan to live as she did, though Eve considered it very stupid; all right for Ivy and Elma to talk about when a woman should marry her man and when she shouldn't.

Eve was not like them. Too bad for her, perhaps, but she didn't want to be like them. Love, to her, meant great-grandmother's rose-point veil brought out of lavender and rose leaves and Lohengrin's thundering from which faced three highways up in Lakeview with rice afterward and an old-fashioned honeymoon trip. And after that it did not mean flirting with other girls' husbands or sweethearts, or having other girls flirt with her husband.

Only a few days ago Elma had said, "You're not artistic, Eve; you can't breathe the atmosphere." Well—she didn't belong. Probably she had expected marriage from Ken; she had expected him to say, "You're to be my wife; I want you for my wife."

And instead of this he had said marriage tied your hands; that it was not fair. He didn't want to marry anyone! He wanted to be free. Free to make a girl love him and then talk about the shackles of marriage!

She did not want to see Ken, not ever again. She hoped her heart never would come alive and go back to beating; that all her life there might be only the numbness she might not be tempted to the great folly of falling in love.

But at the end of a week the numbness passed and then pain came instead. Regret, loneliness, loss—all of these gnawed at her thoughts day and night, hour after hour. Only to hear him speak, to feel his hand on hers—the longing for this became unbearable. Nothing else mattered; she cared for nothing else in all the world.

One afternoon Eve dressed herself, selecting her frock with great care, a fluffy, sleeveless thing of white Crepe de chine. She parted her hair and let the ends curl down her neck almost to her shoulders, running her finger through the ringlets, bringing waves low on her forehead. It was only afterward she realized she had done it all in a sort of dream, without feeling that any of it was quite real. She never knew how she got to Kenneth's, remembering afterward merely that the bungalow had looked deserted and the lawn had grown shaggy and the easel where they had worked under the magnolias fallen over with creepers beginning to vine around it.

With fear clutching her throat, Eve hurried across the veranda, tried the door. It was locked and a painted sign, "Busy—No Admittance" tacked to the panels. She knocked then, beat a tattoo till her knuckles bled. And a far-away voice called at last, "Hey—can't you read the sign?"

"Kenneth!" she cried. "Kenneth!"

Steps then; the lock turned. A gaunt, haggard-eyed boy appeared,

She was in his arms then.

rumpled, unshaven, staring as if she were a ghost.

"You!" he whispered. "It's you!"

"Ken—dearest, dearest Ken!" He put out a shaking hand, touched her arm, her hair, drew his fingers along her cheek. "It's you, Eve."

"Won't you kiss me, Ken? Say you wanted me—that you're glad?"

She was in his arms then; he took her into a room more dimly lit, sheveled than himself, strewn with cigarette stubs, old newspapers, sketches begun and tossed aside—sketches of himself. And all the time he was saying, "Why, Eve? Why?"

"Ken—you shut yourself in here? Let me gather these drawings—oh, a shame to spoil them so. Let me do something for you—"

But he wished only for her to sit beside him, hands in his; bright head against his dark one. "Why, sweetheart?"

"How much do you love me, Ken?"

"How much is there? That and more. And you love me. I knew this now; you love me, Eve. We shall be married tomorrow. Or the day after maybe."

"But Ken!" Did he know what he was saying? Or didn't she understand?

"The day after," he went on. "Tomorrow I'll work . . . Eve . . ."

"But Ken, you said, you didn't believe in marriage. You said—you said marriage was unfair."

"Oh," he said easily, "Not for us. Not for you and I. Do you think I could live without you? Haven't worked in a week—"

And that was the way Evelyn Reade and Kenneth Wilmer became engaged. In a headlong, breathless manner, swept together by the sweetness of reunion and Ken's impatience and the joy that came springing in Eve's heart.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

Plenty of familiar faces may be seen in "Free and Easy," which opened last night at the Cliftona Theatre for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer made liberal use of its stars, players and directors in casting this all-talking comedy extravaganza which is a laugh from start to finish.

Most of the action of the picture, which is a satire of Hollywood activities, takes place within the studio confines and the moviegoer is given the unexpected treat of seeing his favorite actor portraying emotion before the camera and microphone while a well known director stands on the sidelines giving orders. Some of the players and directors who appear in the various sequences are Buster Keaton, who by the way talks and sings for the first time on the screen and proves himself doubly funny in doing so; Anita Page, Robert Montgomery, Trixie Friganza, Dorothy Sebastian, Karl Dane, John Miljan, Gwen Lee, Lionel Barrymore, Fred Niblo and Cecil B. De Mille. Then there are William Haines and William Collier, Sr., . . . but this production has been too lavishly cast to be able to remember half the players who may be seen at one time or another in its hilarious scenes.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

Ina Claire, during her brilliant career in the theatre, earned the reputation of being the best dressed woman on the American stage. And it looks as though this beautiful star is going out after the same laurels on the screen. Miss Claire wears twenty thousand dollars' worth of gowns in "The Awful Truth," Pathe's all-talking version of her stage success, in which she makes her debut on the spoken screen.

"It doesn't matter where gowns come from or how much one pays for them," explains Miss Claire, "a woman is never really well dressed unless she knows her defects as well as attractions and selects clothes which will minimize the former and emphasize the nice points."

In "The Awful Truth," which is at the Metropolitan Theatre, Miss Claire is a sophisticated society woman who has trouble with her husband and after they have been divorced, brings him back to her. The supporting cast is an excellent one and includes Henry Danjel, John Roche, Theodore Von Eltz, Blanche Frederichi, Sidney Bracey, Paul Harvey and other stage players of note. Marshall Neilan directed.

AT THE GRAND

Hard riding Ken Maynard thrills, and plenty, in the Grand Theatre's production, "The Wagon Master," which opens Thursday and runs Friday and Saturday.

Maynard is a star who stands for open spaces, speeds, adventure, courage and he comes to you as a thunderbolt of the wagon trail.

Worry Is the Cause of So Many Ills

Particularly in Nervous People Who Have a Tendency to Intestinal Troubles.

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.
U. S. Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

MANY nervous persons, especially women, have an intestinal trouble called "mucous colitis." It is the name applied to an inflammation of the colon, which is the lower bowel, or big intestine.

The condition is usually the outcome of chronic constipation and debility of the system. It is an obstinate ailment. Even though the inflammation is not in tense, it is persistent.

The condition brings with it symptoms not unlike common diarrhea.

Acute attacks of colitis are apt to alternate with periods of constipation. The person usually worries over his condition and a vicious circle is set up. The worry lowers the vitality and the health is upset.

Whenever there is failure of the regular bowel action a bad state of affairs prevails in the intestinal tract. The waste materials are left in the colon and the poisons from decomposed foods and the germs they produce are scattered through the lower intestine and into the blood stream. Particles of waste adhere to the intestinal wall and set up an irritation there.

As a temporary means of relief the patient should have the lower bowels cleansed by means of enemas. Perhaps the use of mineral oil will help to keep the bowels emptied. But such treatment is the first step only. It is essential that the diet be an easily digested one. All rough, tough and indigestible things are to be avoided. When the intestines are already inflamed and tender from poisons, the coarse vegetables, coarse fibre of meats and fruits with seeds are apt to irritate them still further. In this disease such foods are distinctly harmful.

Almost all vegetables cooked and strained may be eaten. Also cooked fruits should be eaten freely after straining them.

Milk is the best protein food to use in such attacks of colitis. If one does not like milk to drink, there are many ways to use it which are an asset. It may be taken in soups, custards, puddings and other ways. Baked potatoes, eggs and scraped beef are good. Honey and jelly, also.

Moderate amounts of foods should be eaten at one time. It is well to eat more than the usual number of times a day and to take the food in smaller quantities.

The victim should have outdoor exercise, fresh air and sunshine, as well as plenty of rest and sleep. Banish worry, create an optimistic disposition. This can be done, and easily if it is nine-tenths of the cure. Do not go hungry. It is necessary that your vital energy should be built up. Plan your meals along the line suggested and relief is sure to follow.

Relief from Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing a dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 at 25c at the nearest Rexall Store, Hamilton & Ryan.—Adv.

LINDY TO FLY TO S. AMERICA

To Obtain Weather Maps At Lakehurst, Then Head For Southland.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., April 24—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was ready this morning to take off in his Lockheed Sirius plane in which he established last Sunday a new coast-to-coast record, on the first leg of a flight to the Canal zone. Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning it was indicated he would not take the air until 7 or 8 o'clock.

His first stop will be at the Lakehurst naval air station, where he will obtain weather maps. From Lakehurst he will fly to Washington for a stop before going on to Miami. From Miami the Colonel will take off Saturday with the air mail on the first flight of the new seven-day schedule between the United States and Buenos Aires over the lines of the Pan-American Airways.

Colonel Lindbergh will spend the night in Havana and take off Sunday morning on a 600-mile flight across the Caribbean to Puerto Cabezas on the Nicaraguan coast. From there he will make another 600-mile water hop to Cristobal, where the mail will be turned over to the remainder of the journey to Buenos Aires.

Early American Flag
The first commander in chief of the American navy, Commander Esch Hopkins, used for his standard a yellow silk flag with a reproduction of a rattlesnake in the act of striking. Underneath it were the words: "Do not tread on me." One description of this flag says the rattlesnake was at the foot of a pine tree. It was used in 1776. The exact place it was first hoisted is not recorded.

RICHARDSON GIVEN STAY

Summit-Co Murderer To Die Tomorrow Night, Given 30-Day Reprieve.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—A 30-day reprieve was issued today by Governor Myers Y. Cooper for John Richardson, Summit-co murderer.

Richardson was under sentence

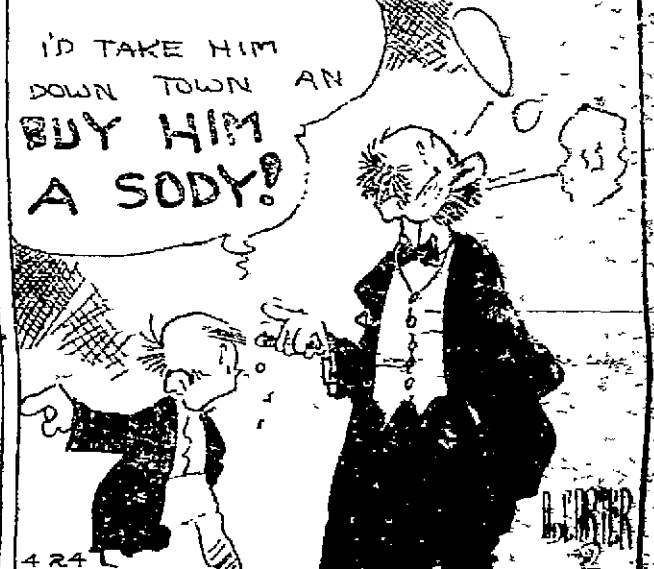

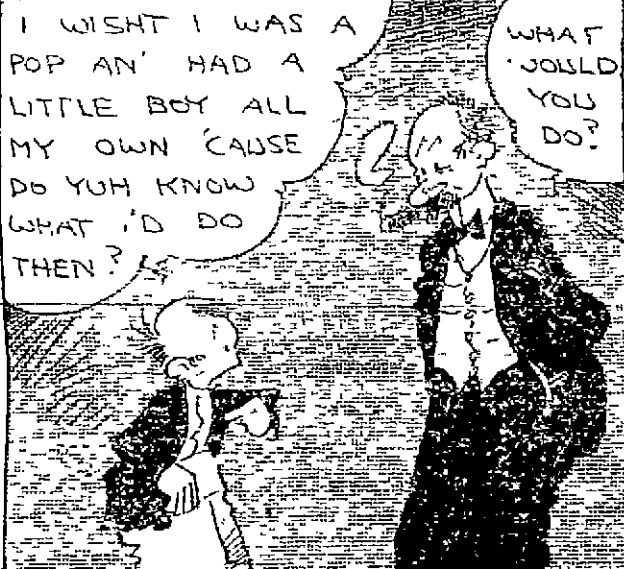

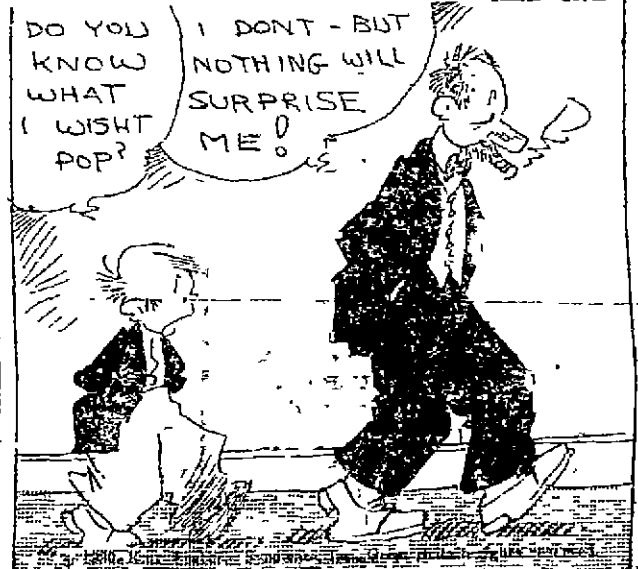

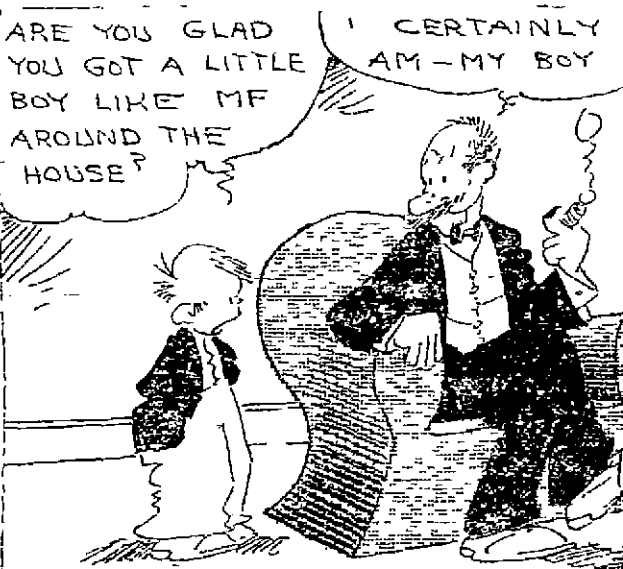

to be electrocuted at Ohio State penitentiary tomorrow evening. He had been convicted of shooting and killing Steve Pierson, a waiter in a road house between Akron and Cuyahoga Falls, during a hold up last September.

The governor's action was in response to a recommendation of the state clemency board that it should have "additional time in which to further consider the case. It is believed that the governor was influenced by an antipathy to permit another death in the penitentiary so close on the heels of the fire at the prison, which caused the deaths of 319 convicts.

Annual Banquet for Graduates is Served Wednesday

The tables were set at right angles, to form a cross Wednesday night, at the St. Philip's parish house, where the junior-senior banquet of the Pickaway-trip school took place. Green and white, the two class colors were the motif of the decoration scheme, with green hutchtops and place cards, green napkins and white lilies.

Where the tables met at the center, a large decoration concealed the prophecies of the senior class. The prophecies were contained in scrolls, with green ribbons from each, extending to the places of the seniors at the table.

Dinner for 37 was served at seven o'clock. The menu, consisted of fruit cocktail, chicken cutlets, green peas, mashed potatoes, gravy, hot rolls, marmalade, celery-pickles, olives, ice cream, cake, cocoa and mints.

After the last course, the program was started with an address of welcome by Charles Boggs, representing the junior class. In response Raymond Paxton spoke for the seniors. Here the Junior orchestra played a popular melody "Should I?"

The members of the orchestra are Albert Waple, Charles Boggs, Marvin Hampshire, Harold Shuner, and Mary Ruth Tolbert.

The reading of the class history, by the class historian, Rosemary McKensie, was an outstanding number on the program, and preceded a vocal quartet including W. Wilson, C. Anderson, A. Estell and M. Hampshire.

Short talks "The Senior Girls", by Ansel Estell, "The Senior Boys", by Helen Seymour, "Our School", by Carl Anderson followed.

A quartet sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life". The singers were H. Seymour, A. Alexander, M. Tolbert and M. Drumma. The class prophecy was read by Mary Ruth Tolbert. Marvane French read the class will.

"Painting the Clouds with Sunshine" was the number played next by the Junior orchestra.

Responses made by the faculty included short talks by Miss Mary Radcliffe, Miss Mildred Wertman, Miss Sara Swearingen, Mr. E. H. Althaus, Mr. G. D. Bradley, and Mr. Lester Seitz. The program was closed with the class song, sung by the juniors.

After the guests left the dinner tables, they spent the remainder of the evening, playing a variety of games, which kept the evening going at a lively pace until eleven o'clock.

The class flower, the sunburst rose, done in water colors, was on the back of each program and menu at the places. These were painted by Raymond Paxton. The Easter lilies on the table were furnished by Mitchell. The dinner was served by the Ladies' guild of the St. Philip's church.

The senior class motto is "Honor Lies in honest toil".

Guests at the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Seitz, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bradley, Mr. E. H. Althaus, Miss Sara Swearingen, Miss Mary Radcliffe, and Miss Mildred Wertman of the faculty.

The seniors were Miss Dorothy Anderson, Miss Marvane French, Miss Marvane Harral, Miss Rosemary McKensie, Miss Marvane Penn, Miss Hazel Wolford, Lester Wolford, Ralph Enoch, Francis McKensie and Raymond Paxton.

2,500 ATHLETES TO COMPETE IN THIS YEAR'S OHIO RELAYS

Attention Will Focus on Ohio State's Shuttle Hurdle Relay Team Which Holds World's Record and On Simpson's Ability.

By JOSEPH K. RUKENBROD
International News Service Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O.—The Ohio Relays, which is fast becoming one of the outstanding track carnivals in the country, already promises an array of 2,500 individual contestants for the annual affair which will be held at Ohio State University here May 2 and 3.

Officials of the country-wide meet promise this year's edition of the Buckeye carnival will be the greatest that has yet been presented, and 1,800 colleges and high schools have been invited to enter teams and individuals in the events.

The Ohio Relays of 1930 will bat in the cleanup position. The Illinois Relays at Urbana March 15 marked the opening of the relay season. The Texas and Southern Methodist games were held late in March and the Kansas Relays were run off two weeks ago. The big Drake and Penn affairs are to be held this year just a week before the Ohio meet.

Stars of the track and field from all parts of the country will compete in the Ohio Relays, and many records are expected to fall in the two-day battle.

Keen attention will be focused on Ohio State's crack shuttle hurdle relay team which twice broke the world's record last season. Ohio State broke the record at the Illinois meet, finishing just a step ahead of the Illini outfit. Illinois took the honors in a race with the Buckeyes at the Penn Relays and Ohio State came back in its own affair a week later to shatter the record by several seconds.

Both the Illinois and Ohio State shuttle teams are depending on sophomores as replacements this year. Dick Rookaway, national collegiate high hurdle champion is the only member who is available this year. The other three hurdlers, Pierce, Crooks and Petersilge, have been lost, the first two by graduation and the latter by ineptitude. The Indians have Lee Sentman and Bob Rodgers, both veterans, on this year's team.

Illinois and Ohio State will also renew rivalry in the sprint relays. The Illinois downed the Ohio 440 quartet last year at Columbus, but were forced into a new national collegiate record.

The same quartet of Buckeye came back later in the day to win the 880-yard event. Illinois will be obliged to race this year without the services of Judd Timm, 1929 anchor man, while Ohio State must replace Howard Kriss.

George Simpson, the "Columbus Comet" has been training extensively and is expected to run true to form. In a dual meet between Ohio State and Ohio Wesleyan, Simpson completed the century in 9.6 seconds, two-tenths of a second slower than the world mark which he now holds. He also ran the 220 in 21.6 seconds. Officials were pleased with the performance of the "fastest human" in that meet and they expect even greater things from him before he closes his remarkable college career in June. The track was slow and heavy at the Wesleyan affair and with a dry, fast path, officials believe he may even surpass his present record of the universe.

ASHVILLE "9" FACES OBETZ

County Lads Endeavor To Take Fall From Team Tied For First Place.

Ashville's entrant in the Suburban league will trek to Obetz Junction Sunday to meet the team there which at the present time is in a tie for first place. The Ashville lads, with Art Beatty, of Darbyville, in the leading role, handed the cleaner to Valley Crossing last Sunday in Ashville's first home game, and fans believe they have power enough to take a fall out of the Obetz nine.

Other games next Sunday are, Shadeville at home against Westwood A. C.; Groveport at New Albany; Lithopolis at Valley Crossing.

Speaking of the dry issue, it's evident that the country doesn't want to dry up verbally, anyway.

BAD WEATHER CUTS MAJOR LOOP CONTESTS TO THREE

BY COPELAND C. BURG.
NEW YORK, April 24.—And the next day it rained.

Except it snowed in Pittsburgh. Anyway, the Yankees did not lose again and the New York Giants are still out there today with that one thousand per centage.

All of which is prefatory to saying only three major league ball games were played yesterday, because of rain, snow, cold and danger of pneumonia.

Charley Grims' single to mid-garden in the last of the ninth, scoring Hack Wilson, brought the Chicago Cubs a 6 to 5 victory over the Cardinals. Charley Root was tapped for 10 hits while the Cubs basked 12 off Bell, Grabowski and Haid.

In the other game in the National League the Brooklyn Robins touched rock bottom as they fell before the Phillies in what they used to call a slug fest. The score was 16 to 15. It was an augmented production with a big ensemble of six fingers for the flock, four for Philadelphia, home runs by Klein and Fresco Thompson and plenty of anything else one might imagine. The Phillies finally won when Thompson pounded out a torrid grounder to Jake Flowers who juggled it just long enough to permit Jimmy Spotts, who got on by forcing Thevenow, to saunter home with the tally that counted most.

The lone contest in the American League saw Coffman, Brown hurler, allowing the Detroit Tigers only six hits as St. Louis won, 5 to 1. The Browns garnered only seven hits but they played smart ball, including a double steal.

In Pittsburgh it was a case of bring along your own igloo for a snowstorm descended on Forbes Field in the third inning just as the Pirates got off to a nice 1 to 0 lead over the Cincinnati Reds. They all play today—if it does not rain.

WALSH SAYS YANKEE TEAM PLAYING DIFFERENT WAYS

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 24.—One of the best handicappers in the country, Jack Doyle, was "laying" 8 to 5 against the New York Yankees as an American League pennant possibility just before the opening day. The Yanks were world's champions, once removed; they carried a $300,000 salary list, which included the only $80,000-man baseball ever will know and altogether they were presumed to have the inevitable fighting chance, but Doyle was highly unimpressed.

"They ought to be 10 to 1," said he, confidently, "they couldn't win even with a clerical error."

Today, he might stand on the door step and harangue the populace without getting more than a tentative nibble at 10 to 1 from the fish who annually try to beat the old unbeatable game, seeing only the fat piece of bait and forgetting the thin, wiry hook.

STILL HUNT VICTORY

As the only club among the sixteen major leaguers still chasing its maiden victory, the Yankees haven't looked so badly to date.

They have looked downright terrible. Possibly this has nothing to do with the moral or management, both of which may be of the highest. Possibly it is just one of those things that is hard to explain, like a black eye.

In any case, plenty of explanations may be offered but there is only one answer, the Yankees so far have been a group of nine men playing a ball game nine different ways. The spark that once made them a living, breathing, vital organization is simply no more. The will to win is there but the flesh can't respond. There is nothing new about this. It will happen to champion ball clubs as long as the human element endures.

So far, no one has been uncharitable enough to chide Mr. Shawkey, the new manager, for this series of early failures, the disposition, in fact, is to bear with the man, for he is in a spot that is nobody's half-holiday and it is only the fair thing to see that he is not molested prematurely with his job of work. Besides, I find there is no sense in kicking a man until one makes absolutely certain that he is down. Mr. Shawkey doubtless will be well chid or chidden at such time, if at all, that he leaves no doubt of the fact that he is about to fail beyond all hope that later he will arise to confound his critics.

RUTH IS DOWN

In similar circumstances, Mr. Ruth also will be the subject of a scathing indictment, it being recognized as man's inalienable right to scathe anybody who works for $80,000 a year. They have been patient with Mr. Ruth, too, even though he is hitting absolutely no home runs day in and day out. For one thing, they know that fate has denied him a home run at least twice to date. For another, they realize that Mr. Ruth can make an awful chump out of the man who tries to disapprove of him right out loud in public.

Mr. Ruth is liable to start hitting them without further notice, at which time the Yanks will start winning a few ball games, but not of them to win the pennant. The turnip will shed its blood before that happens.

LINDY TO FLY TO S. AMERICA

To Obtain Weather Maps At Lakehurst, Then Head For Southland.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., April 24.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was ready this morning to take off in his Lockheed Sirius plane in which he established last Sunday a new coast-to-coast record, on the first leg of a flight to the Canal zone. Shortly after 6 o'clock this morning it was indicated he would not take the air until 7 or 8 o'clock.

His first stop will be at the Lakehurst naval air station, where he will obtain weather maps. From Lakehurst he will fly to Washington for a stop before going on to Miami. From Miami the Colonel will take off Saturday with the air mail on the first flight of the new seven-day schedule between the United States and Buenos Aires over the lines of the Pan-American Airways.

Colonel Lindbergh will spend the night in Havana and take off Sunday morning on a 600-mile flight across the Caribbean to Puerto Cabezas on the Nicaraguan coast. From there he will make another 600-mile water hop to Cristobal, where the mail will be turned over to the Pan-American Grace line for the remainder of the journey to Buenos Aires.

Early American Flag
The first commander in chief of the American navy, Commander Esch Hopkins, used for his standard a yellow silk flag with a reproduction of a rattlesnake in the act of striking. Underneath it were the words: "Do not tread on me." One description of this flag says the rattlesnake was at the foot of a pine tree. It was used in 1776. The exact place it was first hoisted is not recorded.

RICHARDSON GIVEN STAY

Summit-Co Murderer To Die Tomorrow Night, Given 30-Day Reprieve.

COLUMBUS, O., April 24.—A 30-day reprieve was issued today by Governor Myers Y. Cooper for John Richardson, Summit-co murderer.

Richardson was under sentence

to be electrocuted at Ohio State penitentiary tomorrow evening. He had been convicted of shooting and killing Steve Pierson, a waiter in a road house between Akron and Cuyahoga Falls, during a hold up last September.

The governor's action was in response to a recommendation of the state clemency board that it should have additional time in which to further consider the case. It is believed that the governor was influenced by an antipathy to permit another death in the penitentiary so close on the heels of the fire at the prison, which caused the deaths of 318 convicts.

Annual Banquet for Graduates is Served Wednesday

The tables were set at right angles, to form a cross Wednesday night, at the St. Philip's parish house, where the junior-senior banquet of the Pickaway-twp school took place. Green and white, the two class colors were the motif of the decoration scheme, with green napkins, and place cards, green napkins, and white lilies.

Where the tables met at the center, a large decoration concealed the prophecies of the senior class. The prophecies were contained in scrolls, with green ribbons from each, extending to the places of the seniors at the table. Dinner for 37 was served at seven o'clock. The menu, consisted of fruit cocktail, chicken cutlets, green peas, mashed potatoes, gravy, hot rolls, marmalade, celery, pickles, olives, ice cream, cake, cocoa and mints.

After the last course, the program was started with an address of welcome by Charles Boggs, representing the junior class. In response, Raymond Paxton spoke for the seniors. Here the Junior orchestra played a popular melody, "Should I?"

The members of the orchestra are Albert Waple, Charles Boggs, Marvin Hampshire, Harold Shaner, and Mary Ruth Tolbert.

The reading of the class history by the class historian, Rosemary McKensie, was an outstanding number on the program, and preceded a vocal quartet including W. Wilson, C. Anderson, A. Estell and M. Hampshire.

Short talks "The Senior Girls", by Ansel Estell, "The Senior Boys", by Helen Seymour, "Our School", by Carl Anderson followed.

A quartet sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life". The singers were H. Seymour, A. Alexander, M. Tolbert and M. Drumm. The class prophecy was read by Mary Ruth Tolbert. Marvene French read the class will.

"Painting the Clouds with Sunshine" was the number played next by the junior orchestra.

Responses made by the faculty included short talks by Miss Mary Radcliffe, Miss Mildred Wertman, Miss Sara Swearingen, Mr. E. H. Althaus, Mr. G. D. Bradley, and Mr. Lester Seitz. The program was closed with the class song, sung by the juniors.

After the guests left the dinner tables, they spent the remainder of the evening, playing a variety of games, which kept the evening going at a lively pace until eleven o'clock.

The class flower, the sunburst rose, done in water colors, was on the back of each program and menu at the places. These were painted by Raymond Paxton. The Easter lilies on the table were furnished by Mitchell. The dinner was served by the Ladies' guild of the St. Philip's church.

The senior class motto is "Honor Lies in honest toil".

Guests at the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Seitz, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bradley, Mr. E. H. Althaus, Miss Sara Swearingen, Miss Mary Radcliffe, and Miss Mildred Wertman of the faculty.

The seniors were Miss Dorothy Anderson, Miss Marvene French, Miss Marvene Haral, Miss Rosemary McKensie, Miss Marveve Penn, Miss Hazel Wolford, Lester Wolford, Ralph Enoch, Francis McKenzie and Raymond Paxton.

The juniors were Alice Alexander, Carl Anderson, Charles Boggs, Elizabeth Dumm, Marie Dumm, David Dunkle, Ansel Estell, Irma Goings, Marvin Hampshire, Ruth McKensie, Dorothy Peters, Helen Seymour, Harold Shaner, Hoyt Timmons, Mary Ruth Tolbert, Albert Waple and Wells Wilson.
